DETAILED ACTION

Status of the Claims

Claims 1-23 are pending.

This is in response to applicant's remarks/arguments filed on 01/22/08.

None of the pending claims have been amended.

Claim Rejections - 35 U.S.C. § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Art Unit: 1624

3. Claims 1-23 remain rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Maher et al., EP 0938 463 in view of Maunders et al., (U.S. Patent number 5,550,309) for the reasons set forth in the previous office action mailed on 10/19/07.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 01/22/08 have been fully considered but they are not deemed persuasive. Applicants assert that "it was not known prior to the present invention to modify the dehydrogenation process by removing fine particles of catalyst from the unsaturated alkane product prior to subjecting it to partial oxidation and/or ammonoxidation." In response, this feature can not be considered as an inventive step in ammonoxidation process. From a reading of the specification (page 3, last paragraph to page 4) any mechanical separation such as centrifugal separation, filtration etc., is within the scope of the claim invention.

Filtration, evaporation etc., are all processes used in chemistry to separate materials, albeit, solid particles. Note there is no comparative study between the current process and the references to ascertain the superiority between the current invention and those taught in the prior art. Again, mere separation is an obvious modification available to the skilled artisan and that is not patentable absent unexpected results. See In re Aller, 105 USPQ 233, (1955). Also see In re Boesch, 205 USPQ, 215, (1980). The current application discloses a process of obtaining acrolein and/or acrylic acid. The application process and the references process are essentially the same and will prepare essentially the same product(s). Applicants have not provided any evidence to demonstrate that the required mechanical separation is a patentable distinction. Thus, a mere argument or conclusionary statements by applicants will not suffice. Note Geisler, 116 F.3d at 1470, 43 USPQ 2d at 1365. There is no indication by way of evidence or otherwise in the specification that discloses the significance of the claimed mechanical separation in the process claimed herein. Thus, for the reasons of record claims 1-23 remain rejected.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
